IGNITING CHANGE: NSS UNIT 49 TRANSFORMS COMMUNITY IN 7-DAY 'JVALA' CAMP

For seven vibrant days this December, the campus of H.S.S. Valayanchirangara buzzed with a different kind of energy. From December 23rd to 29th, 2025, the National Service Scheme (NSS) Unit No: 49 of Sree Sankara Vidyapeetom College stepped out of the classrooms and into the community for their annual special camp, appropriately titled "JVALA". Guided by the theme 'Youth for the Integrity of Rural Areas,' the camp became a crucible where service met self-discovery.

The initiative, held under the patronage of Principal Dr. K.M. Sudhakaran and led by Programme Officers Dr. Jebin Jacob and Dr. Prathibha P.H., began with a stirring inauguration. Dr. Sheela P.C. (Secretary, Central Zone, Sree Sankara Trust) and keynote speaker Mr. Jobin George (Corporate Trainer) set the tone early on, reminding the volunteers that their week-long journey was not just an activity, but a responsibility to the nation.

Hands that Serve: The Shramdan True to the NSS motto "Not Me, But You," the defining spirit of "JVALA" was visible in the physical labor undertaken by the volunteers. Rolling up their sleeves, the students launched a massive cleaning drive at the camp venue, H.S.S. Valayanchirangara, ensuring the school premises were pristine and hygienic.

However, the highlight of their community intervention was the revitalization of the Valayanchirangara Kesavanpillai Smaraka Library. Recognizing libraries as the heart of rural intellectual life, the students did more than just sweep the floors. They meticulously dusted, sorted, and re-arranged the book collections, breathing new life into the facility and making it far more accessible for local readers. This dedicated effort to preserve a public knowledge space drew immense appreciation from the local residents.

Minds that Learn: Skills and Culture The camp was equally focused on molding the minds of the volunteers. Interspersed with the physical labor were dynamic sessions designed to foster personal growth. Dr. Jibin Mathew led a high-energy session on "Life Skills," equipping the students with the emotional intelligence and soft skills required to navigate the modern world.

Bridging the gap between the students and the soil they stood on, Mr. G. Anandakumar (Headmaster, HSS Valayanchirangara) took the volunteers on a journey through time with his seminar on Local History (Pradeshika Charithram), emphasizing the relevance of understanding one's heritage. The camp also celebrated creativity; renowned theatre artist Mr. N.G. Krishnankutty conducted "Abhinaya Kalari," a theatre workshop that helped students shed their inhibitions and find their voice through art.

A Lasting Impact As the camp concluded on December 29th, the transformation was evident. Under the capable stewardship of student coordinators Adhersh Anilkumar, Devika K.S, Navin Biju, and Malavika C.P, the "JVALA" camp succeeded in lighting a spark. The volunteers returned not just as students who had cleared a library or cleaned a school, but as socially conscious citizens ready to serve.
