PROGRAMME REPORT

The workshop on accelerators/incubators-Opportunities for Students and Faculty -Early stage entrepreneurs was handled by Dr. Renjith Raj, Managing partner & CEO, Paddle Business Consultants LLP. The exploration of opportunities provided by accelerators and incubators for students, faculty, and early-stage entrepreneurs was the central focus of the event organized by the Institution Innovation Council. The session aimed to shed light on the potential benefits of participating in such programs and how they contribute to fostering innovation and entrepreneurship within the institution.

The session started with a keynote address by the resource person that emphasized the crucial role accelerators and incubators play in nurturing entrepreneurial spirit. The speaker highlighted success stories, showcasing how these programs have propelled early-stage ventures to success. The session provided a detailed comparison between accelerators and incubators, outlining their distinct features, modes of operation, and the types of ventures they are best suited for. Participants gained clarity on choosing the right program based on their entrepreneurial goals.

The resource person has provided valuable inputs regarding the role of accelerators/incubators in the startup ecosystem. The participants had an interactive session with the resource person and the session helped in clearing doubts and also created an awareness among participants regarding the resources and support available for startups.

Through a well-structured presentation, Dr. Raj covered various topics, such as the application process for accelerators/incubators, key selection criteria, and the benefits of engaging with these entities during the startup journey. Participants were actively engaged throughout the session, asking pertinent questions and seeking guidance on initiating their entrepreneurial endeavors.
